Teachers as Researchers urges teachers as both producers and consumers of knowledge to engage in the debate about educational research by undertaking meaningful research themselves Teachers are being encouraged to carry out research in order to improve their effectiveness in the classroom but this book suggests that they also reflect on and challenge the reductionist and technicist methods that promote a top down system of education It argues that only by engaging in complex critical research will teachers rediscover their professional status empower their practice in the classroom and improve the quality of education for their pupils Now re released to introduce this classic guide for teachers the new edition of Teachers as Researchers now also includes an introductory chapter by Shirley R Steinberg that sets the book within the context of both the subject and the historical perspective In addition she also provides information on some key writing that extends the bibliography of this influential book thereby bringing the material fully up to date with current research Postgraduate students of education and experienced teachers will find much to inspire and encourage them in this definitive book

Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i e the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blind folded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book's enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region

Museums and the Paradox of Change Robert R. Janes, 2013-05-29 Museums throughout the world are under increasing pressure in the wake of the 2008 2009 economic recession and the many pressing social and environmental issues that are assuming priority The major focus of concern in the global museum community is the sustainability of museums in light of these pressures not to mention falling attendance and the challenges of the digital world

Museums and the Paradox of Change provides a detailed account of how a major Canadian museum suffered a 40 percent loss in its operating budget and went on to become the most financially self sufficient of the ten largest museums in Canada. This book is the most detailed case study of its kind and is indispensable for students and practitioners alike. It is also the most incisive published account of organizational change within a museum in part because it is honest, open, and reflexive. Janes is the first to bring perspectives drawn from complexity science into the discussion of organizational change in museums and he introduces the key concepts of complexity, uncertainty, nonlinearity, emergence, chaos, and paradox. This revised and expanded third edition also includes new writing on strengthening museum management as well as reflections on new opportunities and hazards for museums. It concludes with six ethical responsibilities for museum leaders and managers to consider. Janes provides pragmatic solutions grounded in a theoretical context and highlights important issues in the management of museums that cannot be ignored.

The Epistemological Skyhook Jim Slagle, 2016-05-20 Throughout philosophical history there has been a recurring argument to the effect that determinism, naturalism, or both are self referentially incoherent. By accepting determinism or naturalism, one allegedly acquires a reason to reject determinism or naturalism. The Epistemological Skyhook brings together for the first time the principal expressions of this argument, focusing primarily on the last 150 years. This book addresses the versions of this argument as presented by Arthur Lovejoy, A. E. Taylor, Kurt G. del C. S. Lewis, Norman Malcolm, Karl Popper, J. R. Lucas, William Hasker, Thomas Nagel, Alvin Plantinga, and others, along with the objections presented by their many detractors. It concludes by presenting a new version of the argument that synthesizes the best aspects of the others while also rendering the argument immune to some of the most significant objections made to it.
