Dialectical Journal Frankenstein:

Ecocriticism and the Idea of Culture Helena Feder, 2016-04-29 Ecocriticism and the Idea of Culture Biology and the Bildungsroman draws on work by Kinji Imanishi Frans de Waal and other biologists to create an interdisciplinary materialist notion of culture for ecocritical analysis In this timely intervention Feder examines the humanist idea of culture by taking a fresh look at the stories it explicitly tells about itself These stories fall into the genre of the Bildungsroman the tale of individual acculturation that participates in the myth of its complete separation from and opposition to nature which Feder argues is culture's own origin story Moving from Voltaire's Candide to Mary Shelley's Frankenstein and from Virginia Woolf's Orlando to Jamaica Kincaid's Lucy the book dramatizes humanism's own awareness of the fallacy of this foundational binary In the final chapters Feder examines the discourse of animality at work in this narrative as a humanist fantasy about empathy one that paradoxically excludes other animals from the ethical community to justify the continued domination of both human and nonhuman others

Aesthetics and the Environment Allen Carlson, 2005-08-08 Traditional aesthetics is often associated with the appreciation of art Allen Carlson shows how much of our aesthetic experience does not encompass art but nature in our response to sunsets mountains or horizons or more mundane surroundings like gardens or the view from our window He argues that knowledge of what it is we are appreciating is essential to having an appropriate aesthetic experience and that scientific understanding of nature can enhance our appreciation of it rather than denigrate it The Interactive World of Severe Mental Illness Diana J. Semmelhack, Larry Ende, Arthur Freeman, Clive Hazell, Colleen L. Barron, Garry L. Treft, 2015-07-03

In our society medication is often seen as the treatment for severe mental illness with psychotherapy a secondary treatment. However, quality social interaction may be as important for the recovery of those with severe mental illness as are treatments. This volume makes this point while describing the emotionally moving lives of eight individuals with severe mental illness as they exist in the U.S. mental health system. Offering social and psychological insight into their experiences, these stories demonstrate how patients can create meaningful lives in the face of great difficulties. Based on in-depth interviews with clients with severe mental illness, this volume explores which structures of interaction encourage growth for people with severe mental illness and which trigger psychological damage. It considers the clients' relationships with friends, family, peers, spouses, lovers, co-workers, mental health professionals, institutions, the community, and the society as a whole. It focuses specifically on how structures of social interaction can promote or harm psychological growth and how interaction dynamics affect the psychological well-being of individuals with severe mental illness.
