Telecinematic Discourse Roberta Piazza, Monika Bednarek, Fabio Rossi, 2011-07-20 This cutting edge collection of articles provides the first organised reflection on the language of films and television series across British American and Italian cultures The volume suggests new directions for research and applications and offers a variety of methodologies and perspectives on the complexities of telecinematic discourse a hitherto virtually unexplored area of investigation in linguistics The papers share a common vision of the big and small screen the belief that the discourses of film and television offer a re presentation of our world As such telecinematic texts reorganise and recreate language together with time and space in their own way and with respect to specific socio cultural conventions and media logic The volume provides a multifaceted yet coherent insight into the diegetic as it revolves around narrative as opposed to mimetic as referring to other non narrative and non fictional genres discourses of fictional media The collection will be of interest to researchers tutors and students in pragmatics stylistics discourse analysis corpus linguistics communication studies and related fields

Reinventing Sound Enrique Encabo, 2015-10-28 Recent years have witnessed a true technological revolution with a global impact upon all areas of society from entertainment to education Technology changing and evolving at increasing speed undoubtedly shapes ways of seeing the world something which requires profound reflection in terms of how reality is understood It is undeniable that in this audiovisual world music plays a leading and prominent role This is particularly notable when considering the importance of music in relation to the way it is featured on mobile devices and as manifested in terms of other communication technologies its impact on new narrative forms and the prominence of audiovisual fiction in advertising and the new ways of creating receiving and disseminating music on the Internet This book is divided into two sections New Media New Audiences and Music Cinema and Audiovisual Practices New Approaches and the sixteen essays brought together here are the work of an international group of scholars who deal with different geographical and cultural contexts One of the highlights of this volume is its interdisciplinary re reading of a complex phenomenon that is undoubtedly a fundamental part of contemporary culture As such this collection will be of particular interest to both scholars and non specialist readers
