Cost Benefit Studies Of Natural Resource Management In Southeast Asia:

Cost-Benefit Studies of Natural Resource Management in Southeast Asia David James, Herminia A. Francisco, 2015-03-19

This book applies cost benefit analysis techniques in the management of environment and natural resources in developing countries of the Southeast Asian region and presents a compendium of studies conducted by researchers supported by the Economy and Environment Program for Southeast Asia EEPSEA. It emphasizes the close relationship between the environment and natural resources and economic development in such countries addressing a wide range of problems that can be understood using economic evaluation techniques. General guidelines for conducting economic appraisals are provided with the case studies illustrating how they can be applied in a developing country context. Cost Benefit Analysis Application in Environmental and Natural Resource Management in Southeast Asia serves as essential reading for teachers, researchers, students and practitioners in environmental and natural resource economics, economic development and key issues facing policymakers in the Southeast Asian region.

Biomass Burning in South and Southeast Asia Krishna Prasad Vadrevu, Toshimasa Ohara, Christopher Justice, 2021-06-23. Volume 1 of a two volume set. This book is a self contained state of the art analysis of remote sensing ground based and spatial techniques used for characterizing biomass burning events and pollution. It is a collective achievement of renowned scientists working throughout South and Southeast Asia. They discuss the complexity of vegetation patterns, biomass characteristics, fire distribution, drivers of fires and several examples of the use of novel satellite algorithms for mapping and monitoring biomass burning events. The book is highly interdisciplinary and integrates earth science and environmental science including ecology, fire science, spatial geography, remote sensing and geospatial technologies. Unique in its discussion of the sources and the causes of biomass burning and atmospheric research in South and Southeast Asia. Explains how remote sensing and geospatial technologies help the mapping and monitoring of biomass burning events and their impacts. Focuses on large spatial scales integrating top down and bottom up methodologies. Addresses the pressing issues of environmental pollution that are rampant in South and Southeast Asia. Includes contributions from global experts actually working on biomass burning projects in the US, Japan, South, Southeast Asia and Europe. This book will serve as a valuable source of information for remote sensing scientists, geographers, ecologists, atmospheric scientists, environmental scientists and all who wish to advance their knowledge on fires and biomass burning in South, Southeast Asia.

Decision Making in Water Resources Policy and Management Barry Hart, Jane Doolan, 2017-05-19. Decision Making in Water Resource Policy and Management: An Australian Perspective presents the latest information in developing new decision making processes. Topics covered include key aspects of water resources planning, recent water resource policy changes in irrigation, urban and environmental considerations, the evolution of a water market, a number of case studies that provide real examples of improved decision making, transfer of the Australian experience overseas and challenges for the future. Many countries are experiencing major water scarcity problems which will likely intensify with the continued impacts of climate change In response to this challenge there is increased worldwide focus on the development of more sustainable and integrated water resource policies The Australian experience over the past three decades has led to major improvements in the decision making processes in water resources policy and management particularly in response to drought and climate change providing a great model on which other nations can use and adapt This information is essential to early to mid career practitioners engaged in policy planning and operational roles in all fields of water resource policy and management and catchment management Summarizes key results from three decades of changes in Australian water resource policy Illustrates how Australian knowledge is being used in other countries and how this might be expanded Provides international practitioners with real examples of where and how the Australian knowledge is assisting in other situations Biomass Burning in South and Southeast Asia, Two Volume Set Krishna Prasad

Vadrevu, Toshimasa Ohara, Christopher Justice, 2021-12-02 The increasing intensity and frequency of natural disasters all around the world has caused severe socioeconomic impacts especially in South and Southeast Asia This region is particularly susceptible to vegetation fires leading to biomass burning pollution with impacts on other countries through trans boundary air pollution Despite the growing body of information on biomass pollutants worldwide only a modest amount of data from these regions are available With fires and biomass burning identified as a vital issue in South Southeast Asia this two volume set was created to meet community research and application needs To better serve the atmospheric environmental and remote sensing communities and to address air quality climate and the human health impacts of greenhouse gases and aerosols from biomass burning this set brings together the collective achievements of experts in these regions and the state of the art technologies and spatial analyses to model and monitor biomass burning events and their impacts This first volume covers various topics on fire biomass burning mapping and monitoring while the second volume highlights the impact of biomass burning on the biosphere and reflects extensive research by interdisciplinary teams of experts This set will serve as a valuable resource for remote sensing scientist geographers ecologists atmospheric scientists environmental scientists and all who wish to advance their knowledge on fires biomass burning and biomass burning pollution in South Southeast Asia Specific Features Unique in its discussion of the sources and the causes of biomass burning and atmospheric research in South and Southeast Asia Explains how remote sensing and geospatial technologies help the mapping and monitoring of biomass burning events and their impacts Focuses on large spatial scales integrating top down and bottom up methodologies Addresses the pressing issues of environmental pollution that are rampant in South and Southeast Asia Includes contributions from global experts currently working on biomass burning projects in the US Japan South Southeast Asia and Europe Understanding the impact of planted forest on smallholder livestock farmers and their livelihoods in the Greater Mekong Subregion Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-11-23 Significant forest change in the Greater Mekong Subregion GMS has resulted in deforestation of primary forests and expansion of plantation forests

Although plantation forest development benefits rural communities through income generation and employment opportunities there have been negative impacts including reductions in livestock grazing land and collection of non timber forest products This study analysed the association between primary forests plantation forests grazing areas and large ruminant populations in Cambodia Lao PDR and Viet Nam The report showed that livestock populations in the GMS are dynamic and have been under pressure due to enhanced trade and demand in red meat in China and Viet Nam with a generally positive association between planted forest areas and populations of cattle and buffalo in Lao PDR and Viet Nam indicated Tree plantations were an important source of income and generally perceived as having a positive impact on rural livelihoods despite negatively impacts in grazing land availability It is recommended that integrative approaches that include the collection of household level data to assess the impact on smallholder livelihoods and the collection of regional level data to capture forest changes in future forest assessments enabling a more comprehensive understanding of the association between primary forests and planted forest on smallholder livestock production Silvopastoral models have the potential to provide more viable and sustainable alternatives to the current forestry and livestock production models supporting the transformation to more sustainable agriculture for better production better environment and sustainable development goals in GMS countries and beyond

Reforming Corporate Governance in Southeast Asia Ho Khai Leong, 2005 This multi disciplinary volume provides a critical examination of corporate governance reform in Southeast Asia especially after the Asian financial crisis in 1997 The weaknesses in the corporate sector such as poor investment structure weak legal and accounting systems faulty financial practices questionable political interventions are some of the pertinent issues raised by the authors who include legal specialists corporate practitioners economists and political scientists Policy measures to improve corporate transparency institutional accountability and fiscal prudence are also proposed The volume provides interested readers and policy makers in Southeast Asia with the most current research and policy options on corporate governance reform and advocates more committed and effective governance changes in the future

Groundwater and Environment Policies for Vietnam's Mekong Delta Vo Thanh Danh, 2019-10-29 This book provides an in depth analysis of groundwater uses and environmental issues in the Mekong Delta It focuses on groundwater pollution and use urban flooding living with flood policy and climate change related adaptation measures The Mekong Delta is facing these serious issues in the course of its development This book uses economic analysis methods such as risk cost benefit analysis cost effectiveness analysis contingent valuation method economic loss valuation and multi criteria analysis to provide policy makers and researchers a better understanding of issues faced by sea level rise impacted regions around the world and provide possible solutions Students of environmental economics economic valuation and public policy can use this work to enhance their analytical skills The Globalization of Cost-Benefit Analysis in Environmental Policy Michael A. Livermore, Richard L. Revesz, 2013-01-07 Cost benefit analysis the formal estimating and weighing of the costs and benefits of policy alternatives is a standard tool for governments in advanced economies Through decades of research and innovation institutions have developed in the United States European Union and other developed countries that examine and weigh policy alternatives as an aid to governmental decisionmaking Lawmakers in the advanced economies have used cost benefit analysis to evaluate core environmental and public health questions such as urban air pollution control water quality and occupational safety Yet despite its broad adoption in the industrialized world most developing and emerging countries have not yet incorporated cost benefit analysis into their policymaking process Because these countries face significant limitations on financial resources and have less ability to shoulder inefficient rules it is extremely important for their officials to determine which policies maximize net benefits for their societies The Globalization of Cost Benefit Analysis in Environmental Policy examines how cost benefit analysis can help developing and emerging countries confront the next generation of environmental and public health challenges Analysis in the book examines the growing reach of cost benefit analysis presents relevant case studies where cost benefit analysis has been incorporated in the Americas Africa Middle East and Asia and includes a discussion on the conceptual and institutional issues that must be addressed when adopting cost benefit analysis in developing and emerging countries In part because governments in developing and emerging countries have not extensively used cost benefit analysis there has been only limited research and discussion of the practice and its potential Most work that has been done is on the domestic or regional level and has not been widely shared or distributed within the international academic or policy community By providing both theoretical and practical discussion of this important new tool this book makes a valuable contribution to the fields of environmental policy development studies and environmental law

Opportunities for Environmentally Healthy, Inclusive, and Resilient Growth in Mexico's Yucatán Peninsula

Ernesto Sánchez-Triana, Jack Ruitenbeek, Santiago Enriquez, Katharina Siegmann, 2019-12-30 Approximately 4.1 million people live in the three states of the Yucatán Peninsula Quintana Roo Yucatán and Campeche Some 30 municipalities are in a coastal territory of almost 2 000 linear kilometers from the oil fields of the Gulf of Mexico to the world renowned beaches of Cancún just north of the second largest barrier reef in the world The peninsula's natural assets also include notable Mayan temples With poverty far from eliminated and with economic development opportunities beckoning in agriculture

manufacturing and hydrocarbon development the region is under growing risks from environmental hazards Oil spills hurricanes coral bleaching extreme flooding and erosion have all been experienced in this region over the past decade Based on preliminary identification of environmental priorities Opportunities for Environmentally Healthy Inclusive and Resilient Growth in Mexico's Yucatán Peninsula explores selected topics that aim to inform decision making in the region A general context of integrated coastal zone management is used to explore issues constraints and potential solutions and the role of geomorphology is examined with a view to identifying how shore management plans can contribute to improved coastal management Economic studies find that the main environmental health risks in the peninsula result in more than 1 000 premature deaths every year and in more than 9 36 million days lost to illnesses These risks generate substantial economic losses representing 2 2 3 3 percent of gross regional income Scenarios relating to the economic cost of extreme weather events generate similar levels of damages 1 4 1 5 percent of GDP in 2020 and 1 6 2 3 percent of GDP in 2050 A social accounting matrix examines the social and environmental interconnectedness to the various parts of the economy and an institutional analysis considers the mandates of existing institutions in the states and of the contribution that regulatory measures may make to environmentally sustainable development without undermining economic growth prospects
