Lourenço, Paolo Gardoni, Izuru Takewaki, Eleni Chatzi, Shaofan Li, 2023-09-29 While the word automation may conjure images of robots taking over jobs the reality is much more nuanced In construction for instance automation is less likely to diminish employment opportunities than it is to increase productivity Indeed automation alongside the global need for new and updated infrastructure and better and more affordable housing can help shape the direction of the construction industry The key will be anticipating and preparing for the shift in part by developing new skills in the current and future workforce This book presents all aspects of automation in construction pertaining to the use of information technologies in design engineering construction technologies and maintenance and management of constructed facilities The broad scope encompasses all stages of the construction life cycle from initial planning and design through the construction of the facility its operation and maintenance to the eventual dismantling and recycling of buildings and engineering structures Features Examines Building Information Management systems allowing on site execution of construction more efficient and for project teams to eliminate mistakes and better coordinate the workforce Presents the latest information on the automation of modular construction production in factories including 3 D printing of components such as facades or even load bearing and essential components

Pricing health services: Transaction cost approach Monika Raulinajtys-Grzybek, 2015-03-04 The study is the result of the research on the transaction costs of the pricing of health services Due to the fact that the regulations in terms of pricing include activities that lead to price setting of a good health service costs associated with these activities should be treated as transaction costs According to the assumptions of classical economics the price should be set at the intersection of the supply and demand curve under the assumption of full information and rationality of market participants The primary objective of the study is to identify the transaction costs occurring during the pricing of health services and relate these cost to the institutional environment and the organization of pricing transaction and characterize the factors that affect the level of transaction costs to present the force and direction of the relationship between each of the factors and the level of transaction costs An additional objective of this study is to link the conclusions about the level of transaction costs to the conclusions regarding the accuracy of the cost based pricing in health care The accuracy of the pricing system is related to the degree to which the price structure reflects the actual cost structure of the health services The institutional approach will add up to the existing research on the importance of cost information for the pricing of health services The empirical part of the work was carried out based on the analysis of primary and secondary sources Its aim was to present how pricing is organized in seventeen countries selected Solutions Manual to Cost Accounting, Fifth Edition
