A Guide to Energy Management in Buildings Douglas Harris,2016-11-29 This new edition of A Guide to Energy Management in Buildings begins by asking why we need to control energy use in buildings and proceeds to discuss how the energy consumption of a building can be assessed or estimated through an energy audit It then details a range of interventions to reduce energy use and outlines methods of assessing the cost effectiveness of such measures Topics covered include where and how energy is used in buildings energy audits measuring and monitoring energy use techniques for reducing energy use in buildings legislative issues And new in this edition the cooling of buildings fuel costs and smart metering and education and professional recognition It provides a template for instigating the energy management process within an organization as well as guidance on management issues such as employee motivation and gives practical details on how to carry the process through This book should appeal to building and facilities managers and also to students of energy management modules in FE and HE courses

Metric Handbook Pamela Buxton,2021-11-25 The Metric Handbook is the major handbook of planning and design data for architects and architecture students with over 100 000 copies sold to successive generations of architects and designers. It remains the ideal starting point for any project and belongs in every design office. The seventh edition references the latest regulations and construction standards and includes new chapters on data centres and logistics facilities alongside basic design data for all the major building types. For each building type the book gives the basic design requirements and all the principal dimensional data and succinct guidance on how to use the information and what regulations the designer needs to be aware of. As well as buildings the Metric Handbook deals with broader aspects of design such as materials, acoustics and lighting and general design data on human dimensions and space requirements. The Metric Handbook is the unique reference for solving everyday planning problems. Building Services Design for Energy Efficient Buildings Paul Tymkow, Savvas Tassou, Maria Kolokotroni, Hussam Jouhara, 2020-07-12

The role and influence of building services engineers are undergoing rapid change and are pivotal to achieving low carbon buildings. However, textbooks in the field have tended to remain fairly traditional with a detailed focus on the technicalities of heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) systems often with little wider context. This book addresses that need by embracing a contemporary understanding of the urgent challenge to address climate change together with practical approaches to energy efficiency and carbon mitigation for mechanical and electrical systems in a concise manner. The essential conceptual design issues for planning the principal building services systems that influence energy efficiency are examined in detail. These are HVAC and electrical systems. In addition, the following issues are addressed: background issues on climate change, whole life performance and design collaboration, generic strategies for energy efficient low carbon design, health and wellbeing and post occupancy evaluation, building ventilation, air conditioning and HVAC system selection, thermal energy generation and distribution systems, low energy approaches for thermal control, electrical systems data collection, controls and monitoring, building thermal load assessment, building electric power load assessment, space planning and design integration with other disciplines. In order to deliver buildings that help mitigate climate change impacts, a new perspective is required for building services engineers from the initial conceptual design and throughout the design collaboration with other disciplines. This book provides a contemporary introduction and guide to this new approach for students and practitioners alike.

Office Buildings Pranab Kumar Nag, 2018-12-31 This book brings together concepts from the building, environmental, behavioural and health sciences to provide an interdisciplinary understanding of office and workplace design. Today, with changes in the world of work and the relentless surge in technology, offices have emerged as the repositories of organizational symbolism denoted by the spatial design of offices, physical settings and the built environment, architecture, urban locale. Drawing on Euclidian geometry that quantifies space as the distance between two or more points, a body of knowledge on office buildings, the concept of office and office space and the interrelationships of spatial and behavioural attributes in office design are elucidated. Building and office work related illnesses, namely sick building syndrome and ailments arising from the indoor environment and the menace of musculoskeletal disorders are the alarming manifestations that critically affect employee satisfaction morale and work outcomes With a focus on office ergonomics the book brings the discussion on the fundamentals of work design with emphasis on computer workstation users Strategic guidance of lighting systems and visual performance in workplaces are directed for better application of ergonomics and improvement in office indoor environment It discusses the profiles of bioclimatic indoor air quality ventilation intervention lighting and acoustic characteristics in office buildings Emphasis has been given to the energy performance of buildings and contemporary perspectives of building sustainability such as green office building assessment schemes and national and international building related standards and codes Intended for students and professionals from ergonomics architecture interior design as well as construction engineers health care professionals and office planners the book brings a unified overview of the health safety and environment issues associated with the design of office buildings
