Cities And Sovereignty Identity Politics In Urban Spaces:

Cities and Sovereignty Diane E. Davis, Nora Libertun de Duren, 2011-02-01 Cities have long been associated with diversity and tolerance but from Jerusalem to Belfast to the Basque Country many of the most intractable conflicts of the past century have played out in urban spaces The contributors to this interdisciplinary volume examine the interrelationships of ethnic racial religious or other identity conflicts and larger battles over sovereignty and governance Under what conditions do identity conflicts undermine the legitimacy and power of nation states empires or urban authorities Does the urban built environment play a role in remedying or exacerbating such conflicts Employing comparative analysis these case studies from the Middle East Europe and South and Southeast Asia advance our understanding of the origins and nature of urban conflict

Cities, Business, and the Politics of Urban Violence in Latin America Eduardo Moncada, 2016-01-06 This book analyzes and explains the ways in which major developing world cities respond to the challenge of urban violence The study shows how the political projects that cities launch to confront urban violence are shaped by the interaction between urban political economies and patterns of armed territorial control It introduces business as a pivotal actor in the politics of urban violence and argues that how business is organized within cities and its linkages to local governments impacts whether or not business supports or subverts state efforts to stem and prevent urban violence A focus on city mayors finds that the degree to which politicians rely upon clientelism to secure and maintain power influences whether they favor responses to violence that perpetuate or weaken local political exclusion The book builds a new typology of patterns of armed territorial control within cities and shows that each poses unique challenges and opportunities for confronting urban violence The study develops sub national comparative analyses of puzzling variation in the institutional outcomes of the politics of urban violence across Colombia s three principal cities Medellin Cali and Bogota and over time within each The book s main findings contribute to research on violence crime citizen security urban development and comparative political economy The analysis demonstrates that the politics of urban violence is a powerful new lens on the broader question of who governs in major developing world cities

The Politics of Sanctuary Vojislava Filipcevic Cordes, 2025-09-15 The Politics of Sanctuary examines sanctuaries as spaces where activists oppose what they see as an unjust restrictive regime trapping immigrants in conditions of legal liminality Drawing on her fieldwork in New York City Vojislava Filipcevic Cordes explores the politics of immigrant exclusions and depicts how immigrants in sanctuary cities stake claims for their rightful presence She argues for a more inclusive political life of expanded urban citizenship for undocumented immigrants asylum seekers and refugees through the mechanisms of sanctuary practice Blending a participant observation case study of the immigrant organized New Sanctuary Coalition with urban politics and theory The Politics of Sanctuary also offers ideas for how ways sanctuary practices supported by governance and social service arrangements can promote legitimate claims to immigrant urban membership and belonging

The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places Wendy Pullan, Maximilian Sternberg, Lefkos Kyriacou, Craig

Larkin, Michael Dumper, 2013-11-20 The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places investigates the role of architecture and urban identity in relation to the political economy of the city and its wider state context seen through the lens of the holy places. Reflecting the broad disciplinary backgrounds of the authors, this book provides perspectives from architecture, urbanism, and politics and provides in-depth investigations of historical, ethnographic, and policy-related case studies. The research is substantiated by fieldwork carried out in Jerusalem over the past ten years as part of the ESRC Large Grants project 'Conflict in Cities'. By analysing new dynamics of radicalisation through land seizure, the politicisation of parklands and tourism, the strategic manipulation of archaeological and historical narratives and material culture, and through examination of general appropriation of Jerusalem's varied rituals, memories, and symbolism for factional uses, the book reveals how possibilities of co-existence are seriously threatened in Jerusalem. Shedding new light on the key role played by everyday urban life and its spatial settings for any future political agreements about the city and its religious sites, this book is a useful reference work for students and scholars of Middle East Studies, Architecture, Religion, and Urban Studies. The Condition of Democracy

Jürgen Mackert, Hannah Wolf, Bryan S. Turner, 2021-07-12 Classical liberal democratic theory has provided crucial ideas for a still dominant and hegemonic discourse that rests on ideological conceptions of freedom, equality, peacefulness, inclusive democratic participation, and tolerance. While this may have held some truth for citizens in Western liberal capitalist societies, such liberal ideals have never been realized in colonial, postcolonial, and settler colonial contexts. Liberal democracies are not simply forms of rule in domestic national contexts but also geo-political actors. As such, they have been the drivers of processes of global oppression, colonizing and occupying countries and people, appropriating indigenous land, annihilating people with eliminatory politics right up to genocides. There can be no doubt that the West, with its civilizational Judeo-Christian idea and divine mission to subdue the world, has destroyed other civilizations, countries, trading systems, and traditional ways of life and is responsible for the death of hundreds of millions of human beings in the course of colonizing the world from its Empires of trade through colonialism to settler colonialism and today's politics of regime change. The book discusses the settler colonial regime that Israel has established in Palestine while still claiming to be a democracy. It discusses the failures of liberal democracy to overcome the structural and racist inequalities in post-Apartheid South Africa and it presents hopeful outlooks on new ideas and forms of democracy in social movements in the MENA region.

Nationalism, Ethnicity and Boundaries Jennifer Jackson, Lina Molokotos-Liederman, 2014-11-13 Nationalism and ethnicity have become across time and space a force in the construction of boundaries. This book analyses geographical and physical borders and symbolic political and socio-economic boundaries and how they impact upon nationalism and ethnic identity. Geographic and other tangible borders are critical components in the making and unmaking of boundaries. However, symbolic or intangible boundaries along national, ethnic, political, or socio-economic criteria are equally significant. Organised into three sections on theory, national and transnational case studies, this book both introduces existing approaches to the study of boundaries and illustrates how it is possible to apply renewed boundary approaches to better understand nationalism and ethnicity in contemporary contexts Expert contributors in the field present detailed case studies on the UK Israel Estonia Latvia Ukraine and Kazakhstan and draw upon further examples from more than a dozen countries to provide a critical evaluation of the use of borders boundaries and boundary making in the study of nationalism and ethnicity This book will be of interest to students and scholars of International Politics Nationalism Racial and Ethnic Politics Ethnic Identity and Sociology

Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon Joanne Randa Nucho, 2016-11-22 What causes violent conflicts around the Middle East All too often the answer is sectarianism popularly viewed as a timeless and intractable force that leads religious groups to conflict In Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon Joanne Nucho shows how wrong this perspective can be Through in depth research with local governments NGOs and political parties in Beirut she demonstrates how sectarianism is actually recalibrated on a daily basis through the provision of essential services and infrastructures such as electricity medical care credit and the planning of bridges and roads Taking readers to a working class predominantly Armenian suburb in northeast Beirut called Bourj Hammoud Nucho conducts extensive interviews and observations in medical clinics social service centers shops banking coops and municipal offices She explores how group and individual access to services depends on making claims to membership in the dominant sectarian community and she examines how sectarianism is not just tied to ethnoreligious identity but also class gender and geography Life in Bourj Hammoud makes visible a broader pattern in which the relationships that develop while procuring basic needs become a way for people to see themselves as part of the greater public Illustrating how sectarianism in Lebanon is not simply about religious identity as is commonly thought Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon offers a new look at how everyday social exchanges define and redefine communities and conflicts

Peacebuilding and Friction Annika Björkdahl, Kristine Höglund, Gearoid Millar, Jair van der Lijn, Willemijn Verkoren, 2016-03-02 This book aims to understand the processes and outcomes that arise from frictional encounters in peacebuilding when global and local forces meet Building a sustainable peace after violent conflict is a process that entails competing ideas political contestation and transformation of power relations This volume develops the concept of friction to better analyse the interplay between global ideas actors and practices and their local counterparts The chapters examine efforts undertaken to promote sustainable peace in a variety of locations such as Cambodia Sri Lanka Afghanistan and Sierra Leone These case analyses provide a nuanced understanding not simply of local processes or of the hybrid or mixed agencies ideas and processes that are generated but of the complex interactions that unfold between all of these elements in the context of peacebuilding intervention The analyses demonstrate how the ambivalent relationship between global and local actors leads to unintended and sometimes counterproductive results of peacebuilding interventions The approach of this book with its focus on friction as a conceptual tool advances the peacebuilding research agenda and adds to two ongoing debates in the peacebuilding field the debate on hybridity and the debate on local agency and local ownership In analysing frictional encounters this volume prepares the ground for a better understanding of the mixed impact peace initiatives have on post conflict societies This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding conflict resolution security studies and international relations in general
