Directions: Read the credit report and answer the questions. For each question, write the correct answer in the space provided. You may use the following information to answer the questions.

1. List four factors that credit bureaus use to determine a credit score.

- ☐ Payment History
- ☐ Credit Utilization
- ☐ Length of Credit History
- ☐ New Credit

2. Provide an example of a situation that would result in a credit score being lowered.

3. Provide an example of an action that would result in a credit score being raised.

4. Explain the difference between a credit report and a credit score.

A credit report is a detailed report of a person's credit history, including all credit accounts, payment history, and other information. A credit score is a numerical value that represents a person's creditworthiness, based on the information in their credit report.
