A Revolution in Colour Giorgio Riello, Maria Hayward, Ulinka Rublack, 2024-09-19
This major volume aims to re-colour the European world of dress c. 1300-1800. New dyes created one of the most important visual experiences of the period, yet their story has been sidelined by a focus on visual experiences shaped by the high arts. Meanwhile, theatrical productions and period films still abound with broad assumptions about the growing dominance of black clothing for elites during the period, while ordinary people are imagined having worn coarse greys and bleached garments. This volume presents clear evidence that even the clothing of the middle classes could be much more expensive than paintings and that coloured clothing and accessories were ubiquitous across society. Contributors shed new light on the economic, environmental and cultural dimensions of colour in dress. The range of dyes expanded considerably in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, drawing on Asian and Mediterranean knowledge, new collections of recipes and the greater diversity of plants available through New World trade. Working creatively with organic, plant, animal and mineral materials to make colours involved considerable knowledge, pleasure and skill. The creation of colour through dyes thus reveals a whole range of global agricultural and craft technologies that can inspire future material worlds and transform our understanding of Europe's cultural heritage Studies in Textiel 8 Marjan Blomjous, 2020 Al sinds de prehistorie worden natuurlijke kleurstoffen gebruikt om textiel te verven. De kleurstoffen kwamen uit de omgeving en werden bij toeval ontdekt. Al vroeg gingen ververs experimenteren om tot andere kleurnuances te komen. Toen de handel overzee op gang kwam, maakte Europa kennis met onbekende exclusieve kleurstoffen. De belangstelling daarvoor was groot, maar de hoge prijs bracht ververs ertoe te zoeken naar kleurimitaties op basis van goedkopere procedés. Ook de stabiliteit van kleur ging een steeds belangrijker rol spelen. In deze uitgave speciale aandacht voor ontwikkelingen verftechnieken, verkleuring en sociaalhistorische contexten.

Henri Cartier-Bresson. by Clément Chéroux Clément Chéroux, 2008 Henri Cartier-Bresson's photography came to define the 20th century. This book tells his life story through his images: all the major events from his youth to his death in 2004 are described, contextualized and analysed in the light of his photographic work. From his early encounters with the Surrealists, his film work and his experiences in the Second World War to the development of his own personal aesthetic, the concept of the decisive moment and the foundation of Magnum Photos, his influence on the world has been profound and unforgettable. A Cultural History of Color in the Age of Industry Alexandra Loske, 2022-08-31 A Cultural History of Color in the Age of Industry covers the period 1800 to 1920 when the world embraced color like never before. Inventions such as steam power, lithography, photography, electricity, motor cars, aviation and cheaper color printing all contributed to a new exuberance about color. Available pigments and colored products made possible by new technologies, industrial manufacturing, commercialization and urbanization also greatly increased as did illustrated printed literature for the mass market. Color both literally and metaphorically was splashed around and became an expressive tool for artists, designers and writers. Color shapes an individual's experience of the world and also how society gives particular spaces, objects and moments meaning. The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Color examines how color has been created, traded, used and interpreted over the last 5000 years. The themes covered in each volume are color philosophy and science, color technology and trade, power and identity, religion and ritual, body and clothing, language and psychology, literature and the performing arts, art, architecture and interiors and artefacts. Alexandra Loske is Curator at the Royal Pavilion and Museums, Brighton, UK. Volume 5 in the Cultural History of Color set. General Editors: Carole P. Biggam and Kirsten Wolf.
