Digressions On Some Poems By Frank Ohara A Memoir:

Digressions on Some Poems by Frank O'Hara Joe LeSueur, 2003 In this intimate portrait an unprecedented eyewitness account of New York City life and talent is revealed between the lines of Frank O'Hara's poetry of photos

Digressions on Some Poems by Frank O'Hara Joe LeSueur, 2004-04-21 An unprecedented eyewitness account of the New York School as seen between the lines of O'Hara's poetry Joe LeSueur lived with Frank O'Hara from 1955 until 1965 the years when O'Hara wrote his greatest poems including To the Film Industry in Crisis In Memory of My Feelings Having a Coke with You and the famous Lunch Poems so called because O'Hara wrote them during his lunch break at the Museum of Modern Art where he worked as a curator The artists he championed include Jackson Pollock Joseph Cornell Grace Hartigan Jane Freilicher Joan Mitchell and Robert Rauschenberg The flowering of O'Hara's talent cut short by a fatal car accident in 1966 produced some of the most exuberant truly celebratory lyrics of the twentieth century And it produced America's greatest poet of city life since Whitman Alternating between O'Hara's poems and LeSueur's memory of the circumstances that inspired them Digressions on Some Poems by Frank O'Hara is a literary commentary like no other an affectionate no holds barred memoir of O'Hara and the New York that animated his work friends lovers movies paintings streets apartments music parties and pickups This volume which includes many of O'Hara's best loved poems is the most intimate true to life portrait we will ever have of this quintessential American figure and his now legendary times Frank O'Hara and the Poetics of Saying 'I' Micah Mattix, 2011-03-03 While recent works of criticism on Frank O'Hara have focused on the technical similarities between his poetry and painting or between his use of language and poststructuralism Frank O'Hara and the Poetics of Saying I argues that what is most significant in O'Hara's work is not such much his borrowing from painters or his proto-Derridean use of language but his preoccupation with self exploration and the temporal effects of his work as artifacts Following Pasternak's understanding of artistic inspiration as an act of love for the material world O'Hara explores moments of experience in an effort to both complicate and enrich our experience of the material world On the one hand in poems such as Second Avenue for example O'Hara works to muddy language through which experience is in part mediated with the use of parataxis allusions and absurd metaphors and similes On the other in his I do this I do that poems he names the events of his lunch hour in an effort among other things to experience time as a moment of fullness rather than as a moment of loss The book argues furthermore that O'Hara's view of the self as both an expression of the creative force at work in the world and as the temporal aggregate of finite experiences places him between so called Romantic and postmodern theories of the lyric While it is often argued that O'Hara is a forerunner of a new critically informed materialist poetics this study concludes that O'Hara's work is somewhat less radical in its understanding of poetic meaning than is often claimed Moreover while O'Hara is preoccupied with his experience in his poems the book argues that he espouses in some respects a rather traditional view of love In addition to being a metaphor for the creative act love for O'Hara is the chance coming together of two entities

Yet one of the ironies of this is that while love is for O Hara a feeling that is the result of movement or the unexpected coming together of two otherwise separ

Frank O'Hara Now Robert Hampson, Will Montgomery, 2022-04-02 Frank O Hara s writing is central to any consideration of 20th century American poetry This collection of essays the first to be dedicated to O Hara in nearly two decades asks why O Hara remains so important to 21st century readers and writers of poetry The book is transatlantic in tone combining American scholarship with a wide sampling of British writers For many O Hara s distinctive appeal depends on his witty depictions of urban experience his relationship to the painters of Abstract Expressionism and the exhilarating immediacy of his poetic voice Yet these chatty and approachable qualities coexist with a testing engagement with currents in European and American modernism Frank O Hara Now offers a comprehensive picture of the poet presenting the conversational insouciance of the writing alongside its more intransigent features
