Circling Home Wormsloe Foundation Nature Book:

Circling Home John Lane, 2011-08-15 After many years of limited commitments to people or places writer and naturalist John Lane married in his late forties and settled down in his hometown of Spartanburg in the South Carolina piedmont. He and his wife and two stepsons built a sustainable home in the woods near Lawson's Fork Creek. Soon after settling in, Lane pinpointed his location on a topographical map. Centering an old chipped saucer over his home, he traced a circle one mile in radius and set out to explore the area. What follows from that simple act is a chronicle of Lane's deepening knowledge of the place where he'll likely finish out his life. An accomplished hiker and paddler, Lane discovers within a mile of his home a variety of coexistent landscapes: ancient and modern, natural and manmade. There is, of course, the creek with its granite shoals, floodplain, and surrounding woods. The circle also encompasses an eight thousand year old cache of Native American artifacts, graves of a dozen British soldiers killed in 1780, an eighteenth century ironworks site, remnants of two cotton plantations, a hundred year old country club, a sewer plant, and a smattering of mid to late twentieth century subdivisions. Lane's explorations intensify his bonds to family, friends, and colleagues as they sharpen his sense of place. By looking more deeply at what lies close to home, both the ordinary and the remarkable, Lane shows us how whole new worlds can open up. The Georgia Review, 2007 Circling Home John Lane, 2007 After many years of limited commitments to people or places, writer and naturalist John Lane married in his late forties and settled down in his hometown of Spartanburg in the South Carolina piedmont. He and his wife and two stepsons built a sustainable home in the woods near Lawson's Fork Creek. Soon after settling in, Lane pinpointed his location on a topographical map. Centering an old chipped saucer over his home, he traced a circle one mile in radius and set out to explore the area. What follows from that simple act is a chronicle of Lane's deepening knowledge of the place where he'll likely finish out his life. An accomplished hiker and paddler, Lane discovers within a mile of his home a variety of coexistent landscapes: ancient and modern, natural and manmade. There is, of course, the creek with its granite shoals, floodplain, and surrounding woods. The circle also encompasses an eight thousand year old cache of Native American artifacts, graves of a dozen British soldiers killed in 1780, an eighteenth century ironworks site, remnants of two cotton plantations, a hundred year old country club, a sewer plant, and a smattering of mid to late twentieth century subdivisions. Lane's explorations intensify his bonds to family, friends, and colleagues as they sharpen his sense of place. By looking more deeply at what lies close to home, both the ordinary and the remarkable, Lane shows us how whole new worlds can open up. My Paddle to the Sea John Lane, 2012-09-01 Like Huck Finn, Lane sees a river journey as a portal to change, but unlike Twain's character, Lane isn't escaping. He's getting intimate with the river that flows right past his home in the Spartanburg suburbs. Lane's three hundred mile float trip takes him down the Broad River and into Lake Marion, before continuing down the Santee River. Wormsloe Foundation publications Wormsloe Foundation, Wormsloe Foundation publications Wormsloe Foundation, Neighborhood Hawks John Lane, 2019-04-01 After reading J. A. Baker's fifty year old British nature classic The Peregrine John Lane found himself an ocean away stalking resident red shouldered hawks in his neighborhood in Spartanburg South Carolina What he observed was very different from what Baker deduced from a decade of chronicling the lives of those brooding migratory raptors Baker imagined a species on the brink of extinction because of the use of agricultural chemicals on European farms A half century later in America Lane found the red shouldered hawks to be a stable Anthropocene species adapted to life along the waterways of a suburban nation Lane watched the hawks for a full year and along the way made a pledge to himself Anytime he heard or saw the noisy nonmigratory hawks in his neighborhood he would drop whatever he was doing and follow them on foot on bike or in his truck The almanac that results from this discipline considers many questions any practiced amateur naturalist would ask such as where and when will the hawks nest what do they eat what are their greatest threats and what exactly are they communicating through those constant multinoted cries Lane s year following the hawks also led him to try to answer what would become the most complex question of all why his heart like Baker s goes out so fully to wild things

Coyote Settles the South John Lane, 2016-05-15 The story of Lane s journey as he visits coyote territories swamps nature preserves old farm fields suburbs a tannery and even city streets Along the way he gains insight concerning the migration into the Southeast of the American coyote an animal that in the end surprises him with its intelligence resilience and amazing adaptability
