Verhoeven, 2013-04-09 This volume focuses on the geology land use history palaeoecology ecology and conservation of peatlands fens and bogs in The Netherlands The volume provides detailed accounts that together give a representative picture of the studies that have been carried out in the Dutch mires over the past 25 years Contents Chapter 1 Verhoeven Introduction Chapter 2 Pons is a comprehensive geographic and pedological account of peat formation in space and time in the western coastal plain Chapter 3 Casparia and Streefkerk is a detailed description of the various stages of development from fen to bog of the Bourtanger Moor Chapter 4 Borger and Stol details the history of peat draining digging and dredging in The Netherlands and Flanders Chapter 5 Barkman deals with bog remnants in the eastern Netherlands and northwestern Germany This chapter also includes data on oligotrophic heath pools which have a vegetation that is similar to that found in bogs Chapters 6 Den Held 7 Van Wirdum et al 8 Koerselman and Verhoeven are chapters on vegetation synecology and nutrient dynamics of fens and chapter 9 Wiegers focuses mainly on terrestrializing fens that are so characteristic of the western Netherlands where they presently occur in turf ponds created by peat dredging in former centuries Chapter 10 Vermeer and Joosten concludes the volume with a treatment of problems with mire conservation and management De bodem van Nederland Johan van Baren, 1920 The Netherlands and the Dutch Eduardo F. J. De Mulder, Ben C. De Pater, Joos C. Droogeleever Fortuijn, 2018-07-28 This book presents a geographical survey of the Netherlands reviewing recent and historic developments that made the nation It is a relatively wealthy country and the Dutch belong to the happiest and healthiest on earth But these qualities are not evenly spread over the country The urban agglomeration of Randstad Holland in the west hosts most of the nation s capital and young well educated people whereas older and less educated people are concentrated in the peripheral areas in the north east and south Interactions between physical and human geographical aspects of the Netherlands are described quite extensively Its position on one of Europe s most prominent deltas its abundance of energy resources and the course of history have all contributed to its present national position and international networks But early and recent Dutch have also shaped this country They reclaimed lakes and shallow seas protected the lowlands against floods re allotted land parcels and designed and developed urban areas Besides its focus on water related topics the book also covers social and cultural aspects The book also discusses future challenges and offers scenarios for solutions This is a book for those interested in a wide variety of recent aspects of the geography of the Netherlands described in a historical context It appeals to students and researchers of many disciplines in geography urban and landscape planning water management history and cultural studies Major soils and soil regions in the Netherlands H. de Bakker, 2013-12-01 Soil science in the Netherlands puts strong emphasis on the relationship between parent material and soil formation and between physiographic conditions and land use This approach developed by the late Professor Dr C H Edelman 1903 1964 is quite understandable in a country where soils have to a great extent developed from alluvial and aeolian materials of recent geological origin Dutch soil scientists have paid much attention to pedogenesis in fresh sediments known as initial soil formation or ripening and to groundwater as a soil forming factor Furthermore human influence on soil genesis in this land of man made soils has been thoroughly investigated Major soils and soil regions in the Netherlands clearly reflect these specific features of soils work in this country In his book Mr H de Bakker Head of the Soil Classification Section of the Netherlands Soil Survey Institute Stichting voor Bodemkartering addresses the special interests of foreign soil scientists and of students of earth sciences The author examines representative soil profiles not only with respect to the Netherlands system of soil classification of which he is the co author but also in terms of some of the major classification systems used in other countries It appears that a well characterized soil profile may find a very different place in various classifications and that even for a trained specialist it is often difficult to arrive at a specific determination within a given system
