Cognitive Rehabilitation In Old Age:

Cognitive Rehabilitation in Old Age Robert D. Hill, Lars Bäckman, Anna Stigsdotter Neely, 2000 Cognitive deficits are part of the normal aging process and are exacerbated by various diseases that affect adults in old age such as dementia depression and stroke A significant scientific and social effort has been expended to evaluate whether cognitive deficits can be remedied through systematic interventions The editors as well as the chapter authors represent a variety of viewpoints that span theory as well as practice Overall they aim to address concepts in cognitive rehabilitation that are useful in intervention research research which examines problems and issues in normal and pathological aging and focusing on the application of cognitive training strategies in natural settings Thus the book is grounded in contemporary theory in cognitive aging and is applicable to both the practicing clinician as well as the researcher It is organized into four sections The first highlights prominent theoretical principles the second looks at cognitive rehabilitation strategies in normal aging the third examines the interplay between lifestyle patterns and cognitive function through applying a broad definition of lifestyle choices and the fourth focuses on rehabilitation strategies that address issues in pathological or diseased aging
