Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment:

Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment Tad T. Gorske, Steven R. Smith, 2008-12-16 One of the challenges the field of clinical neuropsychology faces is to develop an assessment process that is relevant and responsive to the needs of patients. Indeed, it has been suggested that the survival of neuropsychology as a clinical discipline may be threatened due to an overemphasis on diagnosing cognitive deficits as opposed to developing methods that meet patients' needs. One way to meet this need is for psychologists to extend their services by developing clinical interventions that contribute to enhancing patients' cognitive and emotional well-being. Providing feedback from the results of neuropsychological tests is one method suggested as a way to enhance patient care and satisfaction with the assessment process while providing a link between clinical assessment and therapeutic interventions. In current practice, providing feedback to patients about the results of neuropsychological assessments has been considered an optional procedure by clinicians and thus received little attention in the literature. Yet there is evidence that when feedback is provided to patients, the effects are overwhelmingly positive. Feedback provides a bridge between assessment and treatment by facilitating the development of applicable treatment plans. There is no agreed-upon conceptual framework for providing feedback from neuropsychological assessment, although researchers have made recommendations. However, these recommendations have done little to affect clinical practice and training despite the fact that including patient-oriented feedback enhances the likelihood that neuropsychological assessment will remain a relevant and important component of patient care. The purpose of this proposed book is to first describe developments in methods of neuropsychological assessment feedback that involve active collaboration with patients in an open exchange of information and results. Second, we will present a comprehensive model for conducting neuropsychological assessment feedback. The authors of this book are expert clinical practitioners and academic researchers who are at the forefront of the development and implementation of Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment methods. Table of contents follows.

Collaborative / Therapeutic Assessment Stephen E. Finn, Constance T. Fischer, Leonard Handler, 2012-01-31 A guide to conducting Collaborative Therapeutic Assessment to promote client growth. Mental health professionals are increasingly enthusiastic about and ready to use psychological test data, research, and theory in life-relevant ways to improve diagnosis, client care, and treatment outcomes. With Collaborative Therapeutic Assessment (CTA), clients participate actively with the assessor in exploring how their test scores and patterns reflect who they are in their daily lives and how they can learn to help themselves cope with life's challenges. Using a case study approach to demonstrate how to apply CTA in practice, Collaborative Therapeutic Assessment provides practitioners with a variety of flexible and adaptable case examples featuring adults, children, adolescents, couples, and families from different backgrounds in need of treatment for assorted concerns. Designed for both experienced and novice clinicians, the book begins with a brief history of CTA and provides clear definitions of the distinctions among many common approaches. It uniquely presents Eighteen diverse C TA assessments covering depression multiple suicide attempts severe abuse dissociation an adolescent psychiatric ward custody evaluation a couple in crisis and collaborative neuropsychology Guidance on how both client and clinician can agree on the best course of action through joint exploration of assessment procedures results and implications Closely related approaches to psychological testing including Individualized Assessment Collaborative Assessment Therapeutic Model of Assessment Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment and Rorschach based psychotherapy Clearly labeled Teaching Points in each chapter Collaborative Therapeutic Assessment provides psychologists in all areas of assessment and at all levels of experience with powerful C TA examples that can dramatically illuminate and improve clients lives An Argument for Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment Audrey Kossman,2014 Since the development and refinement of neuroimaging the need for neuropsychological assessment as a diagnostic tool has decreased In response to this shift new indications for testing have been identified or emphasized including qualitative evaluation and description of cognitive functioning treatment planning and treatment evaluation The practice of neuropsychological assessment by contrast has remained relatively stagnant Most neuropsychologists continue to use the information gathering model criticized as contextually irrelevant reductive dehumanizing secretive and disempowering Collaborative Therapeutic Neuropsychological Assessment CTNA represents one promising alternative Introduced by Gorske and Smith in 2009 CTNA has the explicit goal of producing therapeutic benefit subsequent to or concurrent with neuropsychological assessment by means of increased collaboration and an individualized feedback session comprised of specific therapeutic techniques Despite the conceptual appeal empirical studies of CTNA are still early and emerging This review summarizes and critically evaluates the nine existing studies of CTNA and its psychological assessment counterparts Overall findings support the therapeutic benefit of assessment when collaborative in nature and when test results are communicated to patients However benefits remain variably defined and there are few studies duplicating outcome measures Several mechanisms of change theoretically unique to collaborative and or therapeutic models of assessment are hypothesized They include therapeutic alliance rapport collaborative feedback sessions and subsequently heightened self awareness hope and self enhancement each of which would likely be generalized to CTNA
