Colour François Delamare, Bernard Guineau, 2000 Colour is all around us we take it for granted as a naturally occurring element of all things Yet colours are also manufactured and the science of pigments hues and dyes has an ancient and fascinating history This book surveys the story of dyes and pigments the invention of new colours and the industries that were fuelled by them What were the colours of ancient Egypt What did its artists use to paint their magnificent frescoes Where do indigo and ochre come from Why is purple the colour of royalty What are pastels How many colours are there Why do we dye our food Who invented ink What is the symbolism of yellow From cerise to crimson from puce to periwinkle this book is as rich varied and delightful as a box of crayons

Colour Forecasting for Fashion Debra Johnston Cobb, Debra Johnston Cobb, Kate Scully, 2012-02-12 Colour is a powerful selling tool It is the first thing to catch the consumer's eye in the shop window Get the colour choice wrong and an entire range can stay on the racks So how do colours arrive on the catwalk or the sales floor and why do different companies all seem to choose similar colours each season The answer lies in the work of the huge colour forecasting industry With case studies that show the industry at work this book breaks down the forecasting process from how to put together a colour palette to colour theory and the way that colours behave and helps you to build the combination of research and intuitive skills that a successful designer or forecaster needs

Predicción de tendencias del color en moda Kate Scully, Debra Johnston Cobb, 2013-02-23 El color es una potente herramienta de venta Es el primer elemento que llama la atención del consumidor desde el escaparate Cómo deciden una marca o una tienda la paleta de colores más adecuados para sus productosCuál es el proceso por el que los diseñadores los equipos de desarrollo de productos y los responsables de compras eligen los colores Y dónde proceden esos colores La respuesta está en la predicción del color que consiste en el proceso de anticipar las orientaciones de color y tendencias para todo el espectro de productos de moda y sectores afines La función de la predicción del color es investigar anticipar y finalmente interpretar el color de forma que ayude a diseñadores desarrolladores de productos y vendedores a elegir colores que resulten atractivos al consumidor y potencien las ventas de un producto Este libro examina la predicción del color explorando cómo y por qué se desarrollan las

This major volume aims to re-colour the European world of dress c. 1300-1800. New dyes created one of the most important visual experiences of the period, yet their story has been sidelined by a focus on visual experiences shaped by the high arts. Meanwhile, theatrical productions and period films still abound with broad assumptions about the growing dominance of black clothing for elites during the period, while ordinary people are imagined having worn coarse greys and bleached garments. This volume presents clear evidence that even the clothing of the middle classes could be much more expensive than paintings and that coloured clothing and accessories were ubiquitous across society. Contributors shed new light on the economic, environmental and cultural dimensions of colour in dress. The range of dyes expanded considerably in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, drawing on Asian and Mediterranean knowledge, new collections of recipes and the greater diversity of plants available through New World trade. Working creatively with organic plant, animal and mineral materials to make colours involved considerable knowledge, pleasure and skill. The creation of colour through dyes thus reveals a whole range of global agricultural and craft technologies that can inspire future material worlds and transform our understanding of Europe's cultural heritage Studies in Textiel 8 Marjan Blomjous, 2020 Al sinds de prehistorie worden natuurlijke kleurstoffen gebruikt om textiel te verven. De kleurstoffen kwamen uit de omgeving en werden bij toeval ontdekt. Al vroeg gingen ververs experimenteren om tot andere kleurnuances te komen. Toen de handel overzee op gang kwam, maakte Europa kennis met onbekende exclusieve kleurstoffen. De belangstelling daarvoor was groot, maar de hoge prijs bracht ververs ertoe te zoeken naar kleurimitaties op basis van goedkopere producten. Ook de stabiliteit van kleur ging een steeds belangrijker rol spelen. In deze uitgave speciale aandacht voor ontwikkelingen verftechnieken, verkleuring en sociaalhistorische contexten.

A Cultural History of Color in the Age of Industry Alexandra Loske, 2022-08-31 A Cultural History of Color in the Age of Industry covers the period 1800 to 1920 when the world embraced color like never before. Inventions such as steam power, lithography, photography, electricity, motor cars, aviation and cheaper color printing all contributed to a new exuberance about color. Available pigments and colored products made possible by new technologies, industrial manufacturing, commercialization and urbanization also greatly increased as did illustrated printed literature for the mass market. Color both literally and metaphorically was splashed around and became an expressive tool for artists, designers and writers. Color shapes an individual's experience of the world and also how society gives particular spaces, objects and moments meaning. The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Color examines how color has been created, traded, used and interpreted over the last 5000 years. The themes covered in each volume are color philosophy and science, color technology and trade, power and identity, religion and ritual, body and clothing, language and psychology, literature and the performing arts, art, architecture and interiors and artefacts. Alexandra Loske is Curator at the Royal Pavilion and Museums, Brighton, UK. Volume 5 in the Cultural History of Color set. General Editors: Carole P. Biggam and Kirsten Wolf.
