

CHAPTER 6 REVIEW*Chemical BondingMIXED REVIEW

SHORT ANSWER Answer the following questions in the space provided.

1. Name the type of energy that is a measure of strength for each of the following types of bonds:

_____ lattice energy _____	a. ionic bond
_____ bond energy _____	b. covalent bond
_____ enthalpy of vaporization _____	c. metallic bond

2. Use the electronegativity values shown in Figure 20, on page 161 of the text, to determine whether each of the following bonds is nonpolar covalent, polar covalent, or ionic.

_____ ionic _____	a. H—F	_____ nonpolar covalent _____	d. H—H _____ ionic _____	b. Na—Cl	_____ polar covalent _____	e. H—C _____ polar covalent _____	c. H—O	_____ polar covalent _____	f. H—N

3. How is a hydrogen bond different from an ionic or covalent bond?

A hydrogen bond is a dipole-dipole attraction between a partially positive hydrogen atom and the unshared electron pair of a strongly electronegative atom such as O, N, or F. Unlike ionic or covalent bonds, in which electrons are given up or shared, the hydrogen bond is a weaker attraction. Hydrogen bonds are generally intermolecular, while ionic and covalent bonds occur between ions or atoms respectively.

4. H₂S and H₂O have similar structures and their central atoms belong to the same group. Yet H₂S is a gas at room temperature and H₂O is a liquid. Use bonding principles to explain why this is.

Oxygen has higher electronegativity than sulfur, which creates a highly polar bond. Increased polarity in H₂O bonds means a stronger intermolecular attraction, making water a liquid at room temperature. Hydrogen bonding exists between water molecules, but not between hydrogen sulfide molecules.

Ore Deposit Geology and its Influence on Mineral Exploration
Richard Edwards, 2012-12-06 Why another book about Ore Deposits There are a number of factors which motivated us to write this text and which may provide an answer to this question Firstly our colleagues are predominantly mining engineers and minerals processing technologists which provides us with a different perspective of ore deposits from many academic geologists Secondly we have found that most existing texts are either highly theoretical or merely descriptive we have attempted to examine the practical implications of the geological setting and genetic models of particular ore deposit types We have written the text primarily for undergraduates who are taking options in Economic Geology towards the end of a Degree Course in Geology However we hope that the text will also prove valuable to geologists working in the mining industry The text is to a large extent based on a review of the existing literature up to the end of 1984 However we have visited most of the mining districts cited in the text and have also corresponded extensively with geologists to extend our knowledge beyond the published literature Nonetheless writing a text book on Ore Deposits is a demanding task and it is inevitable that sins of both omission and commission have been committed We would therefore welcome comments from readers which can be incorporated in future editions RICHARD EDWARDS KEITH ATKINSON Cmnhome School n 1llcs
