Measuring What We Do in Schools Victoria L. Bernhardt, 2017-06-06 What is a true learning organization and how can your school become one To excel schools must embrace continuous school improvement and evaluation as well as systems thinking In Measuring What We Do in Schools author Victoria L Bernhardt details the critical role program evaluation serves in school success and how to implement meaningful evaluations that make a difference She provides a roadmap of how to conduct comprehensive systemwide evaluations of programs and processes the tools needed to obtain usable pertinent information and how to use these data to expand teachers and administrators data informed decision making focus Educators will learn how to Assess what is working and not working for students Determine which processes need to change Use data to improve practices on an ongoing basis Although challenging for many schools program evaluation and data analysis can begin with a single program or process over time building on the expanded knowledge of the school's processes and the results they produce. An effective tool, The Program Evaluation Tool, enables schools to easily identify the purpose and intended outcomes of any school program along with whom it serves and how it should be implemented, monitored, and evaluated. These data can then be used to improve every aspect of a school's programs and processes and the outcomes achieved. Filled with practical strategies and featuring an in-depth case study, this book is designed to help educators see that evaluation work is logical and easy to do. They'll gain the confidence to do this work on a regular basis, working together to become a true learning organization.

Co-Teaching and Other Collaborative Practices in The EFL/ESL Classroom Andrea Honigsfeld, Maria G. Dove, 2012-05-01

Much has been written about the cognitive and academic language needs of those learning English as a new language, be it a second language in the United States or other English-speaking countries or as a foreign language in all other parts of the world. Many guidebooks and professional development materials have been produced on teacher collaboration and co-teaching for special education inclusive classrooms. Similarly, much has been published about effective strategies teachers can use to offer more culturally and linguistically responsive instruction to their language learners. However, only a few resources are available to help general education teachers and ESL/English as a second language specialists or two English as a foreign language (EFL) teachers such as native and nonnative English-speaking teachers to collaborate effectively. With this volume, our goal is to offer an accessible resource long awaited by educators whose individual instructional practice and/or institutional paradigm shifted to a more collaborative approach to language education. Through this collection of chapters, we closely examine ESL/EFL co-teaching and other collaborative practices by exploring the rationale for teacher collaboration to support ESL/EFL instruction, b) presenting current classroom-based practitioner-oriented research studies and documentary accounts related to co-teaching, co-planning, co-assessing, curriculum alignment, teacher professional development, and additional collaborative practices, and c) offering authentic teacher reflections and recommendations on collaboration and co-teaching. These three major themes are woven together throughout the entire volume, designed as a reference to both novice and experienced teachers in their endeavors to provide effective, integrated, collaborative instruction for EFL or ESL learners. We also intend to help preservice and inservice ESL/EFL teachers, teacher educators, professional developers, ESL/EFL program directors, and administrators to find answers to critical questions.

The Inclusive World of Today's Classrooms Barbara Cozza, 2022-11-28

As school systems struggle to meet the needs of all learners, this learning framework is the most effective way to structure schools. The book is intended to assist educators at all levels of school organizations and give policymakers and parents information on an effective way to encourage learners to achieve on high levels.
